PORCELAIN TILED SWIMMING POOL.

WITH the installation of the apparatus, the Deseret gymnasium, a monument to physical education, will be thrown open to all persons of good moral character within the next 30 days. The equipment, which cost several thousand dollars, comprises the most complete assortment that has ever been purchased for such an institution. Several carload lots have arrived from the east and it is now being unpacked.

In order to complete the magnificent building before the summer is over, extra gangs of men have been placed at work finishing up the interior. The stairways are being completed in oak and the tile floors have already been laid. The steel lockers are being put in place, the great gymnasium hard wood floor is being oiled and the upholstered seats installed in the spectators' gallery. When this is all finished, then the apparatus will be set up and the grounds will be cleared up and the opening will take place.

Besides being a public institution for physical instruction, the Latter-day Saints university will also use it for a gymnasium for the students and special courses will be taught there. The Young Men's and Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement associations will also have organized class instruction in the institution. The business men will also find the facilities the very best for an hour's work a day under special instruction. The management will cater to the business man's want in all lines of physical education and every effort will be made to make the institution one of the best conducted in the country.

In order to get results, a number of physical directors will be employed in the various fields of physical training. Private instruction will be given and there will be a Turkish bath department in connection with the institution. The details of the work have not been completed by the committee in charge and only a few of the appointments have been made. Committee meetings are being held every week and by the time the building is ready for occupancy the plans will be completed for the management and direction of the institution.

The plans of the building are the most complete for such an institution and are the results of months of hard labor and the visiting of other gymnasiums in the country for details. Lewis Telle Cannon and Ramon Hanson were the architects and in their work were assisted by E. P. Merrill, an engineer.

In the basement of the building is the swimming pool, which is finished in tile and has a water surface of 30 by 60 feet clear. Around the pool is a promenade five feet in width, and a spectators' gallery above, finished in marble and tiling; there are five shower bath rooms, containing four showers in each room. The equipment for the swimming pool is the most complete and either hot or cold showers can be had.

The bowling alleys are also in the basement and are being finished with the finest timber and equipment. There are three sets of alleys with adjacent rooms for teams and other purposes. The locker rooms are in the basement and there are also team rooms, rubbing rooms and hot rooms. These quarters are fixed up for visiting athletic teams where they will have the best accommodations. The drying and laundry rooms will also be found on this floor. The machine and water heating apparatus is also situated in the basement. There is also a ladies' dressing room on the basement floor, and locker rooms.

On the first floor there is another large locker room with 24 apartments. The handball court is also on this floor and the private exercise rooms. The officers' quarters, directors' room and waiting rooms are also on this floor. The ladies will have a locker and dressing room on this floor.

The mezzanine floor will be occupied by the rowing room, the athletic association rooms and rooms for the ventilating apparatus which is the most modern and improved.

The gymnasium hall which occupies the main floor is 146 feet by 71 feet and is one of the largest in the country. The gallery in the gymnasium will seat 1,500 people. The running track is situated above the gallery and is completed. On the top floor there is a boxing and fencing room and several other small quarters which will be used for different purposes when the building is completed.

The equipment which has been purchased and now being unpacked is as follows:

MICHIGAN'S WOLF PROBLEM.

The state of Michigan paid out in bounties to hunters and trappers during the year ending June 1, 1909, a total of $5,590 for dead wolves. During the past six months a total of $2,325 has been paid out for the same purpose.

Is it cheaper for the state to pay a bounty of $5 per wolf, as is now being done, or will it be cheaper to pay an expert trapper or hunter a salary in order to rid the upper peninsula of the pests? That is the question which the biological survey of the department of agriculture at Washington is seeking to answer by sending into the upper peninsula an expert trapper to determine once and for all what is the best and cheapest means. In addition to the $25 bounty paid by the state, some of the upper peninsula counties pay an additional amount. Lapeer county adds $3, Alger, $10; Marquette, $2; Ontonagon, $15; Chippewa, $5; Keweenaw, $15, and Houghton county pays an additional $20.

Prominent state officials who are familiar with the conditions in the upper country differ as to whether the state should pay a bounty. Some state that it is a good thing, as the wolves kill a great many deer in the course of a year, more in fact than do the hunters who annually rush to the northern country to hunt. Others say that the wolves do very little damage and few deer are killed by them. One point on which they all seem to agree is the fact that on account of the various counties offering an additional bonus hunters and trappers in many cases carry the animals for long distances in order to claim the bounty in the county where the highest price is paid.

Another point that is raised is that the state of Wisconsin pays but $10 bounty, and one man connected with the state game, fish and forestry department believes that three-quarters of the wolves of the state of Michigan paid bounty on were killed in Wisconsin and brought into Michigan—Detroit News Tribune.
